‘CLERK™’ KEEPS BETTER ORDER AND ACCESS FOR FILES AND INFORMATION

New Allsteel Mobile Storage Solution Perfect for Professional Service Firms

Muscatine, Iowa – June, 2006 – Financial institutions, law offices, accounting firms and other professional service agencies can spend significant time, thought and money to create workable, beautiful offices. Yet all this planning and design can be quickly compromised by the typical piles of files and boxes that can clutter and even overrun their work areas.

The solution is Clerk™ from Allsteel. This unique mobile storage stand, for use in both private office and open plan workstations, or any place where files need to be on hand and effectively organized, addresses the need for a better way to transport and access the bankers’ boxes, red ropes and other large project documents commonly used in professional service firms.

“What we learned as we studied professional service firms is that partners, associates and administrative staff have constant clutter – there were always boxes and active files on the floor and chairs, or stacked on top of work areas,” said John Boot,

ALLSTEEL'S 'CLERK™' HELPS KEEPS ORDER ADD ONE

Allsteel Group Product Manager. “The bottom line is that professionals are still using lots of paper, and can need immediate access to large volumes of information. That’s why we developed the versatile, mobile and professional-looking Clerk storage solution.”

Clerk can return tables, desks, aisles or even the floor to their original purpose and appearance by providing a perfect method for keeping active project files efficiently organized, mobile, visible and accessible. Its open, multiple shelves provide quick and easy access to bankers’ boxes and red ropes, and the sliding shelf brackets stabilize and hold smaller files in an organized position. It also provides convenient mobility of files within and between offices, project rooms and archival storage.

Clerk is extremely durable, holding up to 80 pounds per shelf – 240 pounds total – while still being easy to push or pull. When not in use, it easily nests, thanks to its folding shelves and nesting design, to allow for compact storage of multiple units.

Designed by Allsteel in conjunction with Ida Design, LLC, Holland, Mich., Clerk’s simple, sleek design works with any office aesthetic, including Allsteel panel systems and new Merge™ tables.
